

CÉLINE CHARPIOT

Founder of LINAGORA Vietnam and OpenHackademy

Mrs. Céline Charpiot has deep experience in Innovation and Digital Transformation. She is Founder of OpenHackademy, CEO of LINAGORA Vietnam, Board Member French Tech Vietnam and Bond'innov President.

She believes in “Good Tech for Good”: Innovation should be more inclusive, ethical and privacy oriented. 11 years ago, she decided to join LINAGORA to develop the 3rd digital way, based on Open Source technology. In 2015, she founded LINAGORA Vietnam in Hanoi and has been very active in developing France and Vietnam strategic partnership in innovation. She leads Hanoi Sustainable City Living Lab initiative, an inclusive innovation lab which aims to foster France and Vietnam cooperation between start-ups, solution providers, research centers for Sustainable City #MadeInVietnam, exclusively designed for ASEAN market.

She is also deeply involved in international business development, in particular, in 2018 she was appointed as Vice-President FR/VN CEO Council for MEDEF (French CEO association) and has been External Trade Counselor (CCE, appointed by French Government) since 2017. She is also the founder of OpenHackAdemy, founded in 2016. The school aims to provide Open Source technology training courses for either men or women, young freshers or people from other industries searching for refresher training, people from central business districts to economically disadvantaged areas.
